as a user, I can enter dates of travel and location and search for events, restaurants and points of interest, etc.

User can enter in a search bar a set of dates and a location and a new set of events, restaurants, points of interests shows up. If it goes right, user receives a list of activities, such as events, restaurants, points of interests, etc. and is able to read more details about them by clicking on such activities. If it goes wrong, show output: "no matches found" and user can input a new set of dates and location.